TRAINING

FOR FIRE SAFETY AND BUILDING PROTECTION

R. Lewis can tailor a training experience to suit your needs. Carried out at one of our affiliated supplier centres, within your premises or other preferred location, you can receive practical hands on training experiences and knowledge based learning programmes that deal with a range of relevant subject matter.

Whether you need to know more about fire stopping systems, surface preparation, fire doors, first aid, fire marshalling, use of fire extinguishers, structural fire protection or any of the other services available; we will work with you to produce and deliver a training package relevant for your team.
